Saint Edward High School vs. VASJ	1/6/26	Prepared by: Coach Donelon

VASJ enters our contest with an overall record of 5–4. Offensively, they look to utilize chin action, Iverson cuts, and a 5-out alignment with hard curls to the rim. VASJ thrives in transition, pushing the pace and attempting around 20 three-point shots per game. They are an aggressive offensive rebounding team, creating second-chance opportunities that we must limit. Defensively, VASJ primarily plays man-to-man in the half court but has shown some 2-3 zone. They apply full-court man pressure and will mix in a 1-2-2 full-court press, looking to trap along the sidelines. However, they struggle to take away the middle in their pressure, making them vulnerable to quick ball movement and passing. In the half court, they fight over the top on wing DHOs, will blitz ball screens at times, and lock and trail on weak-side pin-downs. On BLOB situations, they typically play man-to-man but often get caught on screens. To exploit their weaknesses, we must push the tempo, value every possession, and play with purpose. VASJ has not beaten us since the 1999–2000 season, and we must continue to show them what St. Edward Basketball is all about. Stay disciplined, execute, and take control from the start.

GUYS TO FOUL IN LATE GAME SITUATION	GUYS TO AVOID FOULINIG
#3 - #0 - #5 - #1 - #4 - #10	#11 - #2

STARTERS

RIGHTY		JUNIOR	10 PPG
#11 Jullian Council	5'11	150 LB	100% FT

Solid handles but can get out of control and force poor shots. Capable of finishing left or right at the rim, though he looks to avoid contact and will settle for a floater in the paint. 57.3% of his FGA have come from three, where he is shooting 28% on the season. Effective as a catch-and-shoot player and will pull up off the dribble in transition from outside. Run him off the line and be physical with him.

RIGHTY		SENIOR	3.2 PPG
#1 Lorenzo Oriani	5'10	145 LB	43% FT

Very loose with the ball — we must pressure him into turnovers. He strictly wants to finish going RIGHT when attacking the rim. If he drives LEFT, he will look to spin back RIGHT. He does not look to finish through contact at the rim.
53.8% of his field-goal attempts have come from three, where he is shooting 29%.
KEEP HIM IN FRONT OF YOU. Make him uncomfortable, force him into tough decisions, and contest without fouling.

RIGHTY		SENIOR	9.2 PPG
#2 Frankie Oriani	5'10	150 LB	72% FT

Decent handles, but can be pressured into mistakes. Will often settle for mid-range pull-ups, tending to fade away rather than finish strong. When attacking the rim, he wants to finish going RIGHT.
35.7% of his FGA come from three, where he is shooting 20% from beyond the arc. RUN HIM OFF THE LINE and turn him into a driver—apply ball pressure, force him right, and make him finish through traffic.

RIGHTY		JUNIOR	7.3 PPG
#4 Treyvon Davis	6'1	165 LB	54% FT

He is a drive-first guard with an explosive first step who looks to attack downhill whenever possible, often using a euro step to finish at the rim. He primarily wants to finish RIGHT and avoids contact, making it important to wall up and be physical, as he does not finish well through bodies. Nearly 49.1% of his field-goal attempts come from three, where he is shooting just 17%, so we should run him off the line and force him into traffic. He will leak out in transition looking for easy opportunities, so floor balance and sprinting back are critical.

RIGHTY		JUNIOR	13.2 PPG
#3 Jaevon Hairston	6'1	160 LB	62% FT

Decent-handles, quick primary point guard. Perimeter-oriented, with 41% of his shots coming from three, shooting 31% from deep. Comfortable catch-and-shoot and off the dribble with deep range and a low release.
Uses change of pace and crossover to get downhill. Prefers to finish LEFT, will crow hop middle from the right wing, doesn't consistently play off two feet, and often relies on a floater at the rim.

RIGHTY		JUNIOR	6.4 PPG
#10 Zack Smith	6'0	180 LB	33% FT

Aggressive wing who will attack baseline from the RIGHT block and does a good job cutting to the rim without the ball. Uses a rocker step to get downhill and wants to drive RIGHT to finish, where he is comfortable finishing through contact. Defensively, he is very active and will jump passing lanes for steals. Capable catch-and-shoot player, but shooting is a weakness—17.6% of his FGA are from three, shooting 11%.

LEFTY		SENIOR	1.1 PPG
#0 Kaelin Houston	6'2	170 LB	0% FT

He is most effective when he is playing around the rim and scoring in the paint, where the majority of his offensive impact comes from. From the LEFT block, he looks to attack middle, while on the RIGHT block he prefers to attack baseline. Defensively, the emphasis must be to wall up and be physical, as he does not finish well through contact. He is 0-for-4 from three-point range on the season, so we can sag off and focus on taking away the paint. With physical pressure, he can be sped up into turnovers, and it is critical that we keep him off the offensive glass to eliminate

RIGHTY		JUNIOR	13.6 PPG
#5 OJ Spikes	6'6	175 LB	67% FT

Long, lanky forward who can step out but is a low-efficiency shooter (18.4% of FGA from 3, 17% shooting). On the block, he wants to attack baseline on both sides — RIGHT block: baseline, LEFT block: baseline with spin back middle.
He is not physical inside — put an elbow in his chest, be physical early, and keep him off the glass. Moves well without the ball, cutting to the rim and coming off screens. Make him finish through contact and deny easy paint touches.
